

My Dearest Basil,

I have always wanted to give you something that is originally made by myself, where I can channel all my heart to this one simple memorandum, since you have always give me yours. Happy 2nd Anniversary darling. Yaayy!! We've made it this far. 730 days together and not a single day goes by where I regret my decision for texting you bre at that night. And, you're still as beautiful as when the day I fell for you. This little memorandum is only a one novemquadrantillionth of total from how much I love you cil. Okay, enough for the sweet talks, lagian di wartu kamu ngebaca im, kamu udah pasti aru ajak deep talk ke cil, kalo engga kerarti aru pura-pura engga ngasih kamu apa-apa. hehehe, muah.

This day, two years ago, we have officially become romantically involved. On April 9th, we talked casually for the first time. You have always been attractive for me, and at the time I gave you some words that I thought you need to hear. That's why I reached out to you. On April 20th, we called for the first time. You still manage to make me flustered till today. On June 10th 2023, it was on Saturday morning. We went on our first date before Dufan. You introduced me to a masterpiece titled "Arcane". It was legendary. That day, your hands feels incredibly warm. I love it. Not because the warmth, because it's your hands of course.

June 21th, we're about to have a semester break, which mean we won't be seeing each other. You hugged me for the first time. From that moment on, I knew that I would be addicted to your body scent. July 14th, the day where it all officially began. We had fun, didn't we? I hope so. You've always taught me all the fun things that I've never tried. The left-side seat of the roller coaster, the photo in front of the merry-go-round.

Time flies that day. We laughed, we hold hands.
